We have a amazing talented team building a blockchain based solution for managing documentation sharing and collaboration in the pharmaceutical supply chain. We have funding from some of Europe's premier investors and recently won the University of Oxford "Innovation of the Year" award.

Full Stack Javascript Engineer, London

Description

We are seeking a passionate Javascript developer to contribute to our secure document sharing platform for the pharmaceutical supply chain. As our team member you will be given the opportunity to share your ideas, invent and implement great solutions with cutting edge technology.

As a Javascript engineer your job will consist of development using Angular and NodeJS to create a platform providing security and scalability as well as to build integrations with customer's existing systems. You will be granted the opportunity to grow your career by learning from experienced senior developers and product managers, and to express and incorporate your ideas and - above all - have fun doing it.

About You

- 2+ years of professional development experience.
- Experience with ES6 and Typescript.
- Ability to create secure RESTful APIs in NodeJS.
- Experience with writing unit and integration tests.
- Comfortable creating single page applications with Angular.
- Familiar with containerised environments (Docker).

Preferred but not mandatory:

- Experience implementing and auditing for security best practices.
- Experience with NoSQL databases (MongoDB).
- Continuous integration and deployment.
- Experience with Agile methodologies.
- Familiarity with Auth0 / OAuth / OpenID.
- Experience with enterprise integrations.

What We Offer

Career growth by learning from experienced senior developers, industry advisors and AWS professionals.

You will get a glimpse into the pharmaceutical world and have the opportunity to improve healthcare by increasing the security and efficiency of the medical supply processes.

Improve your soft skill by learning Agile methodologies, presenting software features, talking to technology experts.

A fantastic opportunity to be part of the team at a really exciting time in a rapidly growing business.

We strongly believe in sharing in our success. As such, Veratrak employees receive equity in the company as part of their total compensation.
